Course Name: Experiential Learning: Theory, Design, and Practice

Resource Person: Dr. Rekha Chauhan

Date: 20th May, 2024

Number of Credits: 2

Course Objective:

1. To provide students with a comprehensive understanding of experiential learning principles, methods, and applications, facilitating a thorough grasp of its significance in education and beyond.
2. To engage students in both theoretical exploration and practical activities, fostering a holistic understanding of experiential learning and enhancing learning outcomes through the integration of theoretical knowledge with hands-on experiences.
3. To equip students with the necessary skills to design, implement, and assess experiential learning programs effectively, including the development of clear learning objectives, design of engaging activities, and evaluation of learning outcomes.
4. To empower students to create engaging learning environments conducive to experiential learning, teaching techniques for integrating real-world scenarios, maintaining a balance between challenge and support, and fostering active engagement among learners.
5. To encourage students to foster reflection and critical thinking among learners through experiential learning activities, providing strategies for facilitating reflective practices and guiding learners in analyzing and evaluating their experiences.
6. To teach students to identify and effectively address challenges commonly encountered in experiential learning settings, covering strategies for promoting inclusivity, managing risks, and overcoming barriers to effective learning.

Course Outcome:

1. Understand the principles and theoretical frameworks underlying experiential learning.
2. Design engaging and effective experiential learning activities aligned with learning objectives and real-world skills.
3. Implement experiential learning strategies in formal education and professional development contexts.
4. Evaluate learning outcomes through reflective practices and authentic assessments.
5. Address equity, inclusivity, and risk management considerations in experiential learning scenarios.

6. Identify and explore emerging trends and innovations in experiential learning, including technological advancements and global perspectives.

SYLLABUS:

UNIT NO.	UNIT DETAILS
1	Introduction to Experiential Learning A- Understanding Experiential Learning - Definition and principles - Contrasting with traditional learning methods B: Theoretical Frameworks - Kolb's Experiential Learning Cycle - Dewey's philosophy and its influence - Activity: Reflect on personal experiences that align with experiential learning principles.
2	Designing Experiential Learning Activities A: Creating Engaging Learning Environments - Incorporating real-world scenarios - Balancing challenge and support B: Crafting Effective Learning Objectives - Aligning objectives with real-world skills - Measuring success in experiential learning - Activity: Develop a mini-experiential learning activity for a chosen subject.
3	: Implementing Experiential Learning in Various Settings A: Experiential Learning in Formal Education - Strategies for integrating into classrooms - Benefits and challenges B: Experiential Learning in Professional Development - Applications in workplace training - Case studies of successful implementations Activity: Share insights on how experiential learning can enhance different educational contexts.
4	Assessing Experiential Learning Outcomes A: Evaluating Learning Through Reflection - Importance of reflective practices - Techniques for facilitating reflection B: Beyond Traditional Assessment - Alternative methods for measuring success - Authentic assessments in experiential learning Activity: Design an assessment plan for an experiential learning program.
5	Overcoming Challenges in Experiential Learning A: Addressing Equity and Inclusivity - Ensuring access for all learners - Addressing diverse learning styles B: Managing Risks and Uncertainty - Balancing challenge and safety - Preparing for unexpected outcomes

	Activity: Develop strategies to promote inclusivity and mitigate risks in experiential learning scenarios.
6	Future Trends and Innovations in Experiential Learning A: Technology and Experiential Learning - Virtual and augmented reality applications - Online platforms for immersive experiences B: Global Perspectives on Experiential Learning - Cross-cultural applications and collaborations - Emerging trends in experiential learning research Activity: Explore and discuss the potential impact of emerging trends in experiential learning.

Assignment:

1. Design Your Experiential Learning Program (10 hours):

- Apply the knowledge and skills acquired throughout the course to develop a comprehensive experiential learning program for a specific audience or subject.
- Include elements such as learning objectives, activity design, assessment methods, and considerations for equity, inclusivity, and risk management.
- Present your experiential learning program in a written report or presentation, highlighting its theoretical foundations, practical implementation, and anticipated outcomes.
